

Care For Your Cartridge

If cared for properly, most inkjet cartridges can be refilled 3-6 times.
Follow the steps below to extend the life of your cartridge.

- Always refill your empty cartridges with premium quality, cartridge specific ink as carried out by The Inky Shop, to ensure superior results.

- Never touch the copper plate of the printhead with your fingers.

- Clean printer nozzles each time after refilling by running the clean print head command.

- Do not let an ink cartridge run dry. Ink helps to keep the print head from over-heating which can cause irreparable damage.

- Especially with colour, print at least once a week to clear drying ink in the print head.

- As soon as your cartridge is out of ink, seal it in a clean, airtight bag for refilling as soon as possible. Don't wait too long because as time passes, the success rate of the refill diminishes.

- Always store refilled cartridges in a cool place and preferably in a ziplocked bag. Keep your cartridges upright with the print head down, particularly with colour cartridges.
